

What Will I Owe My Lawyer If I Lose My Personal Injury Case

Q. If I lose my personal injury case, will I owe GA Injury Advocates

A. No, no you would not owe. We take personal injury cases in a contingency basis. That means we only get paid if we recover money for you. If by chance, we don't recover any kind of money for you, you don't owe us anything.

Why Should You Choose Us?

It's not just about dollars and cents at our firm. We care for you the person while also representing you the personal injury client and are 100% committed to getting you the justice you deserve.

At GA Injury Advocates, we endeavor to effectively alleviate your concerns. How? Well, at your initial case evaluation, we will consider all aspects of your legal matter, then describe your available options in detail. Our role is to guide you through the rough waters. If necessary, we can conduct a thorough investigation to aid in constructing a formidable legal strategy. That's why you should contact us today or call us at (770) 766-0555! Hablamos español.
